Acret Opposes
Judge Thompson

A communication from G. E. Acret, Los Angeles attorney, announces his candidacy for associate justice of the supreme court, Office No. 2. His opponent is Justice Ira F. Thompson, incumbent, whose bigotry and inability to stand criticism were recently publicized in these columns; he forgot himself to the extent of fining and imprisoning Norman H. Parks, Imperial valley, in 1926, because that young editor dared criticize the judge's ruling in a water deal which unfavorably affected several hundred farmers in the community.

Mr. Acret has practised law in Los Angeles for 11 years, and prior to his entry into legal affairs in the south, enjoyed a national reputation as the "fighting district attorney of Grays Harbor county, Wash." He says, "I believe and always have believed that courts have no right to claim immunity from criticism and I most emphatically believe in complete freedom of the press."

The Press takes pleasure in recommending Mr. Acret to its readers.

Now that the Santa Clara County Water Conservation district is finally under way with its conservation program, with the work laid out and the money budgeted, it has been suggested by a group of prominent West Side growers that there should be formed a West Side Water Conservation association.

It is believed that such an organization could justify itself in a number of ways, chief of which would be its ability to help water district officials in ironing out the way for the proposed work, and by seeing to it that all work budgeted for this side of the valley is completed according to contract. If any grievance concerning impending work should happen to rear its head, the proposed association would be in a position to lend a helping hand.

With deer season again at hand I'd like to indulge in my annual words of caution. Last year a great number of hunters in California and other states were killed during deer season. Some of them were actually mistaken for deer. Others fell victims to their own carelessness: Carrying loaded rifles in cars, dragging them muzzle first through fences, leaning on the muzzle, lean-

MRS. DELFINA
BARBANO DIES
HERE TUESD'Y

Shortly after celebrating her 51st wedding anniversary, Mrs. Delfina Barbano, well-beloved local matron, died yesterday at her home following a sudden and severe coughing spell, and will be buried in the Santa Clara Catholic cemetery tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Barbano, apparently in robust health at the age of 69, was stricken suddenly last night about 1:30 after having spent the early part of the evening playing cards with members of the family. A violent coughing spell racked her body, and she passed away half an hour later. Dr. F. R. Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Austin, neighbors, were in attendance.

Born in the province of Alessandria, Alfino Natta di Casale Monferato, in northern Italy, Mrs. Barbano had lived in this vicinity the greater part of her life. She is survived by her husband and her children, Louis, Ernest, Joseph and Marino Barbano, all local ranchers, and Mrs. T. L. DeBernardi of Mt. View, as well as by several brothers and sisters.

Drew Cannery
Takes Out New
Pear Machines

Comparative cost charts last week proved to Drew company officials that the new pear peeling, halving, coring, stemming and trimming machines were a losing proposition when the cost of hand labor necessary to sort and complete the work of the machines was taken into consideration. The equipment, which is rented by the manufacturer, was removed Sunday.

Other Campbell, plants which had installed the machines are this week letting them stand idle, and are having the work done by women, in an effort to arrive at the most economical method.

ing rifles against trees in such a way that they might fall over and be discharged, sprawling on the belly to drink out of a spring, with a rifle on the ground—pointing at the chin.

Of course, every hunter is too smart to pull any of these fool stunts, but a lot of them are killed every year through just such carelessness. Watch your step.

This being taken for a deer is bad, too; always reminds me of the moth-eaten story of the Maine guide who, instructing two young hunters, said, "Now you go down this side of the gully and I'll take the other; if you see a deer wearing a red hat and smoking a pipe, don't shoot—that'll be me."

AMOS WILLIAMS
CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED SELF

Amos O. Williams, candidate for re-election as Coroner and Public Administrator, is deservedly one of the most popular and respected of our county officials. He has honestly, efficiently and courteously administered the office which he holds, and this, coupled with a genial personality, has made him a host of loyal friends.

Mr. Williams was born in Santa Clara county. As a young man he conducted a blacksmith shop in what is now East San Jose. The same painstaking and conscientious industry with which he shod the farmer's horses has been evidenced in his official career.

The office which Amos Williams holds calls for sound judgement and integrity. These qualities he possesses to in a marked degree.

Harvest Halts
Installation of Irrigation Pipe

Postponement of the laying of irrigation pipe along Dry Creek road in the Willow Glen sector was announced by W. Finemore, president of the Santa Clara Water company, as a result of harvesting activities.

While 400 feet of pipe have already been put in place, it was deemed advisable to await the termination of the prune-picking season before attempting the completion of the job. The line will go through orchards, and as the owners are busy tending their crops, and do not wish to interfere with harvesting activities, work will be suspended till the prune season is over.

The new line will serve orchardists in the Dry Creek sector during the winter only, when Los Gatos creek can be tapped and diverted.

JOHN L. McNAB
HARRY TODD

San Francisco, Aug. 1—John L. McNab, distinguished Californian, gave public endorsement today to the candidacy of former Postmaster Harry L. Todd of San Francisco for membership on the state board of equalization for the first district.

McNab, who was one of the first to sign as a sponsor for Todd, said:

"I know Harry Todd as the product and example of old fashioned honesty and fair dealing, the kind of man into whose hands the widow could put the whole fortune and know that it is as safe as in a government vault."

"His whole life has been a record of kindly acts, square dealing, and patriotic service—the type of citizen who will give to public office the same energy and devotion that he devotes to his private affairs."

During the past three weeks Todd has been campaigning in the southern counties of the first equalization district and will shortly announce a complete campaign organization in all of the seven counties comprised in the first district.

Reception for
Rev. E. Bowling

Rev. Edwin Bowling was accorded an informal reception at the Campbell Methodist church, of which he is the new pastor, Friday evening, with the Rev. J. H. Bennett of the Congregational church acting as welcoming host.

A program arranged by Mrs. E. R. Kennedy and Miss Florence Kennedy, in behalf of the Ladies Aid society, included: a trombone solo by J. Nichols, accompanied by his daughter, Veva; the welcome by Reverend Bennett; vocal solos by Mrs. F. L. Howes, with Miriam Blaine accompanying; piano duets by Miss Miriam Blaine and Miss Jean Sterling; welcoming speech by the church, through its oldest member, Robert S. Parkhill; vocal solos by Mrs. Willard Farr, accompanied by Miss Sterling; response by Rev. Bowling; and "deceptive tricks" by Hugh Cramer.

In charge of decorations were Mrs. William N. Lloyd, Mrs. John D. Blaine, Miss Florence Kennedy and Miss Beth Kennedy; of reception, Mesdames W. W. Sibley, Ethel Davis and John D. Blaine. Hugh Cramer and David Farley were in charge of games, and Mrs. Rose Hanger was chairman of the committee on refreshments.

This reception had been planned for the arrival of the Rev. Bowling some six weeks ago, but owing to the prevalence of the infantile paralysis epidemic, it was thought expedient to postpone it.

BOOSTER PUMP
KEEPS WATER
MAINS FULL

Owing to the fact that the canneries have proved a tremendous drain on the water pressure in Campbell, a "booster" pump was installed by the local water plant at a cost of $1,000, according to Ralph H. Hyde, manager of the company.

With the addition of the new pump the capacity of the plant will be increased 2,400 gallons a minute. Of this, the new pump will furnish 1,100 gallons, acting as a pressure pump to force water from the settling tanks into the mains. The pump will be so arranged that when the towering tank of the water plant is full, the pump will automatically stop running, as the tank will act as a "serge," taking such water as is surplus to the mains.

The installation was rendered necessary at this time because the rate of water consumption has been vastly increased, according to Mr. Hyde, as a result of the activities of the three canneries and the increased domestic consumption caused by the influx of a large cannery population.

There are now available for use three booster pumps, but only two are immediately necessary, Hyde said. The other was installed to provide for inevitable expansion.

Sea Scouts To Training Camp

From a crowded field of aspirants, Norman McVey of Campbell was chosen as one of six valley Sea Scouts to attend training camp at Catalina island which opened July 25 and which will run until August 5.

About 150 young men, representing four western states, were singled out on their records for this mark of distinction, according to Duncan McKinley, valley scout executive. The camp routine will include comprehensive training in marine and disciplinary phases of scout activity. C. J. Carlson, regional scout executive, is in charge of the program.

WILLIAM SKIFF
PASSES AWAY
IN ROCHESTER

An item in the Northern Allegany Observer, Fillmore, N. Y., issue of July 27, chronicles the death of William Skiff, for many years a popular and familiar figure about Campbell:

"The funeral of William M. Skiff, for many years a well known business man of Hume before he took up his residence in California, was held Tuesday afternoon in the Hume M. E. church, Rev. C. L. Carpenter of Short Tract officiating. His death occurred Saturday in Rochester after an illness of more than a year, at the age of 68."

"Burial was made at the Alger cemetery under the auspices of Oriona lodge No. 229, F&AM."

"Besides his wife, Mr. Skiff is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Miriam Dunlap of Campbell, Calif., three sisters, Mrs. L. R. Slusser and Mrs. Frank Closser of Bliss, and Mrs. Arthur Adams of Ithaca."

AUTO THIEVES
BUSY HERE

A model A Ford coupe, the property of Joe Gard, First and Minna streets, was stolen from its parking place in the garage last Wednesday evening. It was found the following morning on East Campbell avenue by Burt Smith, and taken to Leonard Smith's garage. The car had been badly abused, one tire wrecked, and the keys were missing.

Ed Evans, Central avenue, lost his car the preceding night under similar circumstances, and was located the following day about half an hour after the theft had been reported to Constable Coupland and Officer Frank Weeks. Authorities are investigating with the hope of halting these nocturnal raids on local cars.

Mrs. Bohrman,

Mrs. F. J. Bohrman of Campbell and her daughter, Ruth, 9, were severely cut when the auto driven by Mr. Bohrman with whom they rode, crashed with another car driven by Jack Weeks, 908 East Santa Clara street, at Ninth and San Carlos streets Sunday. The injured were treated at the San Jose hospital. Patrolmen Ray Blackmore and Ernest Anderson investigated.

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR
Executive Secretary
Agricultural Council of California

The 2 1-2 per cent state sales tax will NOT be collected on sales of farm fertilizers—reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

That positive declaration comes from Fred E. Stewart of the state board of equalization, spiking rumors that the board planned to remove fertilizers from the tax-exempt classification.

Saving California farmers more than $100,000 annually in sales tax payments, the board's ruling, or re-declaration of its original policy, is of primary importance to orchardists and vegetable growers—both heavy users of fertilizers.

Stewart declared that the board had no thought whatever of reversing its position, adding:

"It has been clearly established that fertilizers are essential to the efficient production of fruits and vegetables. And inasmuch as these products are taxed under the sales levy when they go into consumption, it is the opinion of the board that a tax on fertilizers used in their production would be 'double taxation.'"

"The ruling on fertilizers is in direct accord with the board's previous decision holding that feedstuffs are not taxable when they go into the production of farm commodities which will subsequently carry the 2 1-2 per cent sales tax.

"In guarding against 'pyramiding' of the sales tax, the board is diligently seeking to maintain the tax relief accorded farm property, and real property generally, by adoption of the Riley-Stewart Tax plan at the special election a year ago."

The importance of the ruling on fertilizers is evidenced by the fact that the California farming industry spends from $3,500,000 to $6,000,000 annually for fertilizers, the amount of the bill varying according to farm income.

In normal times, when sales of fertilizer approximate $5,000,000 per year, the board's ruling will save the industry in the neighborhood of $125,000 annually.

Growers of tree fruits and vegetables will reap major savings, as they are compelled to make heavy and regular expenditures for fertilizers to produce paying crops. Perhaps the greatest benefits will accrue to the citrus industry which will save many thousands of dollars by continuation of the ruling that fertilizers are not taxable.

The board of equalization, in reaching its original decision on the taxation of feedstuffs—which served as a basis for the later ruling on fertilizers—was guided by a general declaration of policy from the state legislature, secured at the same time the sales tax was adopted.

California farmers, through their state-wide organizations, were successful in establish-

SNYDER BIDS FOR COUNTY FINANCE JOB

Thirty-five years of business and financial experience in Santa Clara valley comprises the training that Charles L. Snyder, present foreman of the county grand jury, offers to the voters in his independent candidacy for county treasurer at the primary election, August 28.

This was the principal issue presented by his friends and supporters today in carrying out his quiet campaign, which is being conducted without "ballyhoo" on a strictly business basis.

Senior partner in the old Mangrum and Otter Hardware and Plumbing company of San Jose, later known as the Snyder-DuBrutz company, Snyder assisted in the organization of the San Jose National bank, of which he is now a director. He is engaged at present in financial management, a business in which he has gained a widespread reputation, dealing with the problems of small property owners, large business concerns and farmers alike. He is greeted as a friend by men in all walks of life.

His life in this county has been dedicated to public service, although this is the first time he has run for public office. He was one of the organizers of the Boy Scout movement in San Jose and served as treasurer of the San Jose Scout council for ten years.

He was chairman of the San Jose Red Cross chapter in 1930, 1931 and 1932, and general chairman of the 1930 Community Chest drive. He served as president of the San Jose chamber of commerce in 1926, and has been intimately associated with numerous other community enterprises.

He is an active member of the San Jose Rotary club, of the Elks lodge, Masonic and Scottish Rite bodies, and is past grand master of the I.O.O.F. of California. He was a trustee of the Odd Fellows Orphans' home at Gilroy from ing their contention, both before the legislature and the board, that a tax on feedstuffs in most instances would be "double taxation," inasmuch as the farmer's products—produced by the feedstuffs—would be taxable when sold on the market.

In maintaining its stand that fertilizers, when used in the production of commercial crops, are not taxable, the board of equalization has saved agriculture from an unjust burden at a time when the farming industry could ill afford any additional tax load.

KIWANIS NOTES By Heck

Mr. Percy "Ford" Dunlap was in the chair yesterday when the Kiwanis club heard an address by Harry West, engineer from the Ford Motor plant at Richmond, on the subject of transportation.

At the same time it was announced that Ralph Hyde, alleged golf champion of the club, will sponsor a dinner for the club in the second meeting of the month in August. This will be a self-imposed tribute to William Lloyd, who triumphed over Hyde in a recent golf match. The dinner will be given in San Jose, and entertainment will be furnished by Rev. Edwin Bowling, Ralph Smith, Lawrence Campodonico, Jack Murdock and Herbert Shadle, who were the last five men to become members of the club.

Next week members of the club will be guests of honor of the Greater Santa Clara club.

Restauranteur Fined by Blaine

Harry White, proprietor of the Busy Bee restaurant, charged with violating the liquor laws, was yesterday denied a plea of denial in Justice Blaine's court and was sentenced to pay a $100-fine or spend 50 days in jail. A stay of execution of sentence until Saturday was granted.

District Attorney Asks Re-Election

Mr. Thomas has been district attorney for two terms and now seeks re-election. The duties of district attorney are wide and varied, it being the belief of the average citizen that all the district attorney does is to prosecute criminal cases. While the prosecution of criminal cases is of utmost importance the duties of district attorney as advisor to the various departments of the county government are of far more importance to the taxpayer; for a mistake in legal advice may result disastrously and incur vast liability. The district attorney in addition to being the prosecutor, is the legal advisor of every department of the county government, such as, the board of supervisors, all county officers, all school districts, all school trustees in their official capacities, and must defend all actions brought against it or them, he must advise, and consult all special districts, viz., mosquito abatement districts, sanitary districts, cemetery districts, lighting districts, fire districts and so forth; he must be familiar with the procedure in the formation of water districts, in fact all districts, that he may guide the board of supervisors in all legal ways. He must be a bond expert, for all bond elections and bond issues are handled by him. This is technical work and a mistake of any kind is expensive to the people. He must be familiar with all tax problems and the law governing the same; he must be competent in civil law because he called upon to advise the sheriff in such matters; many investigations are

Mortgage Aid Act Restores Seized Ranch

First local action under the recently passed Frazier-Lemke act which gives aid to farmers with mortgages was revealed yesterday.

By appealing to the California farm debt committee, a state organization, Federal District Judge A. F. St. Sure caused F. E. Fernandez of Half Moon Bay to get back his ranch after a mortgage had been foreclosed and the man and his family dispossessed.

Fernandez had written a letter to the judge, whom he knew by name only, asking if anything could be done to prevent foreclosure and keep his family from want.

In accordance with terms of the Frazier-Lemke act, Judge St. Sure communicated with T. C. Tucker, chairman of the farm debt committee. Members of the committee found that Fernandez had been dispossessed immediately after writing St. Sure, but they had the foreclosure set aside and Fernandez and his family are carried on by him; he is a member of the county planning commission; he must, in conjunction with the Auditor and chairman of the board of supervisors, count the money in the county treasury every month; since the NRA came in he has had to make many interpretations of codes and draft all ordinances. These and many other such duties are his. This important work has taken all the time of Mr. Thomas, who from long experience has become an expert in these matters as evidenced by the fact that Santa Clara county has been signally free from expensive litigation.

back on the ranch.

The district court judges here plan appointment of a conciliator in every northern California county in which there are 500 or more farmers. Ben S. Allen has been named supervising conciliation supervisor, to cooperate with the state committee.

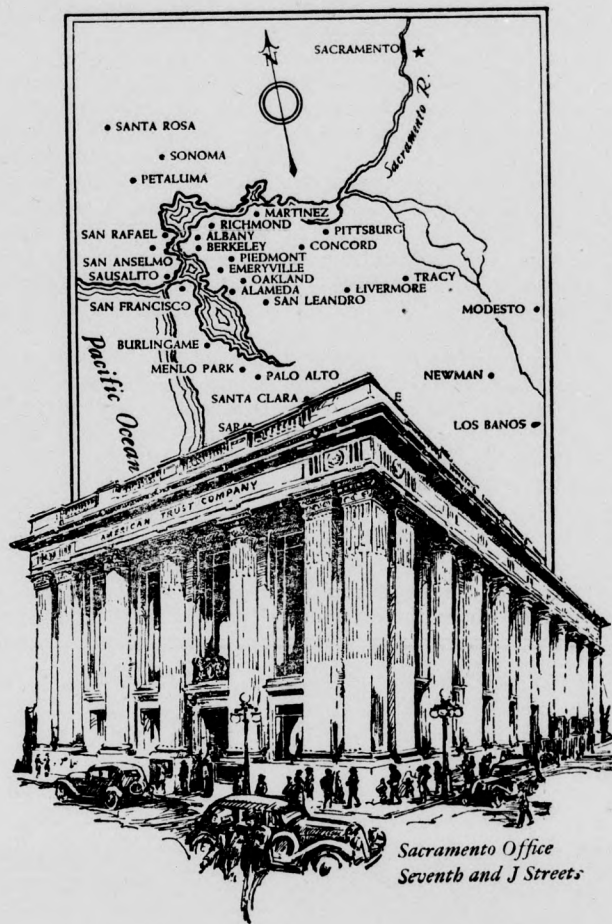

"The act will be administered in this district according to the spirit in which it was passed," said Judge St. Sure. "Farmers will not be allowed to use it to avoid their just debts when they are able to pay. But aid will be given to those farmers who are really in need of a helping hand to tide them over present financial difficulties. It will aid the creditor as well as the debtor."

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Parker of Crockett were week-end guests of Mrs. Parker's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan.

Campbell Boy Scouts will resume their regular meetings Wednesday, Aug. 8, according to a recent announcement by the Rev. J. H. Bennett, local scoutmaster.

Esther Hedegard Becomes Bride of Robert L. Rees

Miss Esther Hedegard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Hedegard of Winchester road, became the bride of Robert L. Rees at a lovely ceremony at the Congregational church here Sunday afternoon. The Rev. J. H. Bennett officiated.

The bride is a graduate of San Jose State college and of Stanford medical school, where she received a degree in dietetics. For some time she had held a responsible position at Lane hospital in San Francisco. She is a member of the Alpha Zeta Beta sorority and is active in Eastern Star circles.

Mr. Rees is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Rees of Lansing, Mich., and resides at Beverly Hills, where he is associated with the Shell Oil company.

Mr. and Mrs. Rees left immediately after the ceremony for Chicago, where they will enjoy the fair. From there they will go to Lansing to visit Mr. Rees' parents. Upon their return they will make their home in Beverly Hills.

W. B. Jones and Herbert Singleton are visiting in Yosemite, where their families

Wardell-For Governor Rally

Ira Grimm, prominent Campbell man, is a member of the executive committee of the newly formed Wardell campaign committee for Santa Clara county and is working for the success of the first Wardell-for-governor rally of the county, to be held in the auditorium of San Jose high school Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Justus S. Wardell of San Francisco, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, will address the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Howes recently entertained Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dodge of Sacramento.

A Different Problem

TIME was when June brides were almost all faced with the fundamental problem of how to cook, but their problem is no longer cooking but the wise selection of foods already cooked. For there are enough different foods now available to her in cans to make cooking in the home almost a superfluity.

Soup to Nuts

To begin with she has her choice of nearly three dozen delicious soups, and to end with she can save herself labor by serving excellent vacuum packed nuts. And, in between, she has her choice of a couple of dozen fruits in various forms, a score of fish and shellfish, more than a dozen meats cooked in different ways and combinations, nearly three dozen vegetables, and about three score specialties, including such staples as Boston brown bread, milk and whipping cream, jams, jellies, Japanese crabmeat, molasses, pickles and puddings.

Ready Prepared Dishes, Too

Some of these require merely heating, but some of them are better cooked in combination with other foods to bring out their fullest and most delicious flavor, but there are also ready-prepared dishes in cans which require no combining with anything.

These include spaghetti with tomato sauce, whole squab, beef steak with onions, beef stew, whole chicken, whole ham, kidney stew, liver with bacon or onions, sausage with sauerkraut, and such ready-made entrees as beef a la mode, chicken a la King, Chop Suey, Hungarian Goulash, Lobster Newburgh and Irish Stew.

A New Study

So the new study of the modern June bride consists largely of finding out which of these canned foods appeal to her new husband, and what manufacturer puts up the best brands of them. For the purposes of this study she will find that a good, reliable grocer is the best source of information.
